again, when the ordinary rules of war were disregarded and neither property nor the persons of the citizens were spared. The General Hospital was originated in 1814 and municipal self-government was conferred upon the town by an Act of 1817, in which provision was made for police regulations. Business was extending and the prosperity of the citizens attracted the attention

About the Book

About the Book

My books were very hot items—it was hot art to me, almost too hot to handle. I liked the idea that my books would disorient, and it seemed to happen that people would look at them and the books would look very familiar, yet they were like a wolf in sheep's clothing. I felt they were very powerful
